

Letter from Mabel Hubbard Bell to Alexander Graham Bell, November 10, with transcript

Letter from Mrs. Alexander Graham Bell to Dr. Alexander Graham Bell. THE LORRAINE, Fifth Avenue & Forty-fifth Street, New York, N. Y. Nov. 10 (1904.) Dear Alec:

Only a line to catch the mail. I am to see Dr. Kennicutt at his request, and I am troubled by this, and by some reports I have heard that his perfect disinterestedness is not to be trusted. I will not be guided by what he says alone. They say he had no standing among medical men, so I will see Dr. Marsh and perhaps telegraph Dr. Sowers. You will know by telegraph of course, if anything really happens. They say Dr. McBurney is O.K., and he told Gipsey it was a very mild case and he is the surgeon.

Yours in great haste.

They say she had a comfortable night.
